

Science & The Collapse of World Trade 7 on September 11, 2001

Reasonable Doubt

The destruction of the World Trade Center in the fall of 2001 was a key pretext for the "War on Terror" that led to the invasions of Afghanistan and Iraq and to a global rise in world military expenditures.

Dr. Niels Harrit will offer a critique of the official account of the destruction of the World Trade Center, concentrating on Building 7. Dr. Harrit, Associate Professor of Chemistry at the University of Copenhagen and author of dozens of research papers in his field, is lead author of a 2009 article announcing the discovery of nano-thermite (an incendiary and explosive) in the World Trade Center dust.

March 1, 2011 | 7:30 p.m.

Health Sciences Centre 1A6 | McMaster University

Admission Free

Sponsored By

Centre For Peace Studies

